

PRE-PAID HEALTH CARE SYSTEM
AND METHODS OF PROVIDING SAME

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention provides a prepaid healthcare system including a plurality of prepaid healthcare consultations taking place between a plurality of patients and a plurality of physicians participating in 5 a network of physicians. The present invention also includes a plurality of prepaid healthcare patient identifiers for identifying one of a plurality of patients as a member in the prepaid healthcare service system. The identifiers also have a plurality of prepaid
10 healthcare consultations associated therewith. The present invention also includes a method of providing a prepaid healthcare system including distributing a plurality of patient identifiers to a plurality of patients, identifying at least one physician in a network
15 of physicians to provide the prepaid healthcare consultation, and updating the prepaid healthcare patient identifier with patient and physician information.